VOLUME 2. MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, SATURDAY, JULY 22, 1911. NO. 42.

THE SOUTH SIDE WON

A GOOD CLEAN GAME OF BALL AT RIFFE'S PARK FRIDAY.

GRAND STAND HELPED WIN

Much Interest Taken in Close Game in Which South Side Won From North 10 to 9.

Last half of the ninth inning, two down and the score tied! It sure looked like extra innings to determine the base ball supremacy of Maryville. And then the pitcher for the North side boys loosened up a little, an error or two was made by the fielding force, and in an exciting finish the winning run came across and the boys from the South side had won from the boys from the North side 10 to 9.

And any one who thinks Maryville hasn't some star base ball players among the boys who played Friday for the benefit of the playgrounds fund of the Mothers' Circle should have attended the game and found how badly they were mistaken. There have been games in Maryville where there were fewer errors and tighter pitching, but in none was there more head work used by the knights of the diamond and none of them furnished half the fun and real enjoyment that this contest did, in which the score seesawed from side to side, and which wasn't decided until the last ball was thrown.

The North side boys got away in the lead, and with the score 3 to 1 against them things looked blue for the South side stars, but Pitcher Harris drew in his belt a notch tighter and held the North siders down to no runs until the seventh inning; and in the meantime he and his teammates were piling up runs until they led the other boys 8 to 3.

Not all the playing was done by the boys on the diamond by any means. The most enthusiastic lot of rooters that has witnessed a ball game in many a day nearly filled the grand stand, and all the ways a fan knows to encourage his favorites and to distract the opposing players were used to turn the tide of battle. North side supporters vied with South side supporters in their efforts to gain advantage for their side. And Umpire Keck played a star game of his own. The little fellows certainly kept him busy, and it took fast work on his part to judge the plays. He earned every cent of his pay, and to judge by the way he seemed to enjoy it he was paid a-plenty.

And then came that heart breaking seventh inning for the South side boys. Pitcher Harris went up in an airship and the rest of the team followed him in balloons of various kinds. In vain did Captain Harris throw the ball from his place behind the bat to second, using his whip in a way that Captain Dietz might well envy. The North side sluggers were not to be denied. The opportunity they had waited for and had fought for was here. In the language of the sport writers, "the pill was pounded all over the lot." The "demon spitball flinger" couldn't get the right curve on his balls to stop the bombardment. When the cruel war was over and the maimed and wounded were removed from the scene of carnage the haughty South side banner was trailing in the dust and the crest of the North side champions was proudly erect. Six runs had been scored against them and a badly demoralized lot of boys sought the cool and shady bench next the bleachers.

But you can't keep a good man down. The South siders put through another in their half, and then both sides tightened up and there was no more scoring until after vainly trying to find holes in the North side infield, two men were out and it seemed the last hope was gone, "a nice little one" put the winning run across.

The Mothers' Circle is to be congratulated both on the financial success which they made and for the good clean game the boys played.

Everymember of the Mothers' Circle attended the game, and they want the boys of the two teams to have all the credit, for they came to the Circle at one of its meetings and offered to play for the Circle's play ground fund. The Circle had not thought of a ball game, and was delighted with the offer of the boys. The game has brought the Circle a neat sum, and they are sorry that more people could not have been there to enjoy the splendid ball they played. The Circle is especially proud of the boys because they played so earnestly and did not show the leats anger or resentment. Every one of them is a thorough-going gentleman.

The following was the line-up:

DEAD AT HIS FORMER HOME IN HOPKINS

John M. Gordon, aged 75 years, father of A. J. Gordon, of the firm of Sayler & Gordon of Hopkins, died at 7 o'clock Saturday morning at the home of his son, one mile north of Hopkins.

The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Gordon home, conducted by Rev. W. B. Christy, district superintendent of the M. E. church. Burial in Hopkins.

Mr. Gordon had not been feeling well for about six weeks. Two weeks ago he came from his home, southeast of Kansas City, to visit his son and his family, hoping the change would be a benefit. But he gradually grew worse until death came Saturday morning.

Mr. Gordon was a resident of Hopkin until his removal to Kansas City about five years ago. He came to Nodaway county forty years ago this coming fall from his native state of Ohio. He first settled on a farm three and one-half miles southeast of Hopkins, but after a year moved to Hopkins and for years worked at the carpenter trade. He was an Ohio soldier all through the civil war.

He was twice married. His first marriage was to an Ohio young woman, who died in Hopkins, leaving him two sons, A. J. Gordon of Hopkins and William Gordon, who is some place in the west. His second marriage was to Miss Annie Long of Hopkins, who survives him with four children, Roland, Jessie, Maud and Della.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

THE TALBOTT BOYS WERE HUNG IN MARYVILLE.

FOR KILLING THEIR FATHER

Many Are Still Here Who Were Connected With the Talbott Trial and That Witnessed the Hanging.

Thirty years ago this date, or July 22, 1881, the first legal execution which ever took place in Nodaway county occurred in Maryville on that day, it being the hanging of Albert P. and Charles E. Talbott, in the presence of a crowd estimated at over 10,000 people, for the unnatural crime of murdering their own father, on Saturday night, September 18, 1880.

The murder of Dr. Perry H. Talbott, residing about seven miles south of Maryville, took place about 7 o'clock on the evening of September 18, 1880. He was shot and mortally wounded in his room by an assassin from without, through a window. He died the next day at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, remaining conscious up to within five minutes of the time of his death. When asked a little while before his death if he had any idea as to who had committed the crime, he said, "None."

Albert P. Talbott and Charles E. Talbert, the two sons of Dr. Talbott; Mrs. Talbott, wife of the murdered man, and Henry Wyatt, a worker on the Talbott farm, were arrested, and a preliminary hearing was had, the result of the hearing being that the Talbott boys and Wyatt were committed to the county jail to await the action of the next grand jury. The grand jury returned true bills against the two Talbott boys and Wyatt, but acquitted Mrs. Talbott. On January 13, 1881, the trial was had before Judge John C. Howell of the twenty-eighth judicial district, Judge Henry S. Kelley retiring from the bench on the motion of the attorneys for the defense. Judge W. W. Ramsay was at that time prosecuting attorney of Nodaway county and conducted the trial, being assisted by S. R. Beech, who is now postmaster of this city, and John Edwards. For the defense were Col. Lafe M. Dawson, Judge Johnston and M. G. Moran. The jury, after being out three hours, brought in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. The case was taken to the supreme court, their decision affirming the decision of the Nodaway circuit court. Wyatt was later released.

The boys were hung in the Beal pasture, in the east part of the city. The Nodaway Democrat, in its extra on that day, said:

"Sheriff Henry Toel gave the signal to Deputy Will Toel, when Will pulled the lever that supported the trap, and the drop fell at 2:20 o'clock. The bodies of the boys plunged through the opening, the fall breaking Ed's neck. Albert slowly choked to death and was not pronounced dead by the attending physicians, Doctors Koch and Campbell, until twenty-nine minutes after the drop fell. Ed was pronounced dead in twelve minutes."

Many people here remember the execution of the Talbott boys. Many of those connected with the trial are still living here.

LITTLE GIRL SUSTAINED INJURIES IN ACCIDENT

The little daughter of George Barber, a farmer living about two or three miles from Parnell, was badly injured Friday morning, when an automobile scared the horse she was riding horseback. The little girl was riding along the road and the horse frightened at the automobile, the girl falling off and breaking her leg and receiving other injuries. It is claimed that the automobile was going at a good rate of speed and was carelessly driven. It is said that the automobile was from Maryville and contained Maryville people.

A NEW TIME CARD?

CHANGES CONTEMPLATED BY BURLINGTON OFFICIALS.

TO ADD A NEW TRAIN

Will Greatly Benefit Maryville, and the Time of Several of the Trains to Be Changed.

The operating officials of the Burlington railroad are contemplating some changes in the present timecard of the passenger trains. Just how many changes will be made on the main line at Creston we are unable to say, but as several important changes on the Creston & St. Joseph branch are under consideration, it is quite likely that there will be also several made in the time of the arrival and departure of passenger trains on the main line, says the Creston Advertiser-Gazette in Friday's issue.

According to reports, train No. 4, from St. Joseph, which now arrives at Maryville at 11:55 a. m. will get here at 8:25 in the morning, if the new schedule is adopted, and will get to Creston at 10:25 in the morning, and this train will return to St. Joseph a little earlier in the afternoon than it does now. The officials are also giving some consideration to the question of putting on another train between Creston and St. Joseph, and if this is done the people living along the line of this branch will have very much improved service, as they can only go in either direction twice a day now, but with the added train it will give them a chance to come to Maryville or go out of this city oftener than they can under the present schedule of trains on that branch.

The reason for the change being made in the time of train No. 4 is to make connection with train No. 6, which goes through Creston about 10:30 in the morning. At present persons wishing to go east of Creston must either wait until evening, if they come from the south on the afternoon train, or take No. 4, which is a slow local train. The Burlington, it is understood, has lost quite a little Chicago passenger traffic because of the poor connections in Creston. Many who live along the line of the Burlington, on the Creston & St. Joseph branch go to St. Joseph and take passage from there to Chicago over another line of railroad rather than come to Creston and be forced to wait for several hours before they can get a through train. Connections with the night passenger trains are just as bad as those during the day. It is also understood that a great deal of Omaha and Denver traffic has been diverted because of the poor connections in Creston. Persons going to Creston on the afternoon train are forced to wait until evening to go to Omaha or Denver, and if they go on the night train they are compelled to wait until early in the morning to make connections, but with the change in time of the daylight train they will be in plenty of time to take No. 3 west.

The changes of the trains and with a new one added will greatly benefit the merchants of Maryville. If the change is made in the time of train No. 4, it will give people living to the south of us a chance to come to Maryville in the morning.

W. E. Goforth, Burlington agent at Maryville, was out of the city today and nothing could be learned whether the Burlington intends to make these changes in train time. The Burlington has for some time had under consideration some changes for this branch.

TOOK NO ACTION

ABSENCE OF TWO MEMBERS LED COUNCIL TO DELAY.

HOLD MEETING TONIGHT

With All Members Present It Seems Likely Something Will Be Done in the Water Matter.

The city council met Friday evening in regular session, and after transacting some minor business adjourned until this, Saturday, evening, on account of the absence of two members of the board—Frank Ewing and O. K. Herndon. The council does not intend to take any action or submit a proposition to the people on the water problem unless the full board is present. Mayor Robey said last night:

"This is a great responsibility to shoulder, and every member should take his share. I don't believe we ought to do anything unless every member of the council is present."

The ordinance submitting an election to the people to vote on a $100,000 bond issue was ready and will be taken up at the meeting this evening. What action will be taken on it is hard to figure out at this time, as there seems to be some opposition to the bond issue in the council.

City Attorney Blagg, when asked if the City Water company could cut off their service in case they wanted to, said that they could. He said:

"Either party, the city or water company, can terminate its contract tomorrow. A recent decision to this effect is Judge Phillips' decision in the Carthage case."

Alderman John Gray said last night that in a talk he had with Manager G. B. Roseberry a few days ago, Mr. Roseberry said that he might be able to get Mr. E. L. Street here, and might be able to get a compromise rate, if the council felt disposed to do anything with granting a franchise to the company.

Several men are working up the river and some little water is coming down. A number of pools of water have been opened. These pools are probably fed by springs. Over an inch and a half have been gained by the water company in their reservoir.

A license of $25 was paid by the Airdome people on East Third street for running a moving picture show here. The council at first said that the license fee would be $2 a night, but after considering it, permitted the company to run under the moving picture show ordinance.

The city intends to go ahead on the opening of Ninth street to the Normal grounds. The Wabash company is opposed to the opening, as they say it is not needed now and will cost them too much money. Condemnation proceedings will be brought to open the streets. The railroad company is ready to open up Storm avenue.

The city council has had several meetings during the past week or so, and nothing has come of them except a great deal of talk. It is time for the members of the council to get down to business if they want to settle this water problem. The people are expecting the council to take some action on the question and are hoping that the city will at least do something toward temporary relief.

Women and Banking.

The cashier of a bank which has many women depositors, in speaking of these customers, said that the stock stories about overdrawn accounts and ignorance as to bank methods had become pointless. Whatever may have been the case before, women give banks no more trouble now than men. "The woman who insists on drawing money when her balance has been exhausted because there are still blank checks in her book has disappeared, and in her place we have a woman who wants interest on her money and who knows what 'call money' means," said the cashier. Referring to the 'old kind,' he added: "One day we did have a real case. A woman rushed in, said she had just figured up her account and found she was $500 short. Husband away—no other money—what could she do? She had brought jewels to leave as collateral security till he returned, and then we looked up the matter and found she had over $800 to her credit."—New York Tribune.

A Dance Without a Smile.

They have a singular kind of dance conducted on the greens of country villages in Russia. The dancers stand apart, a knot of young men here, a knot of maidens there, each sex by itself and silent as a crowd of mutes. A piper breaks into a tune. A youth pulls off his cap and challenges his girl with a wave and a bow. If the girl is willing she waves her handkerchief in token of assent. The youth advances, takes a corner of the handkerchief in his hand and leads his lassie round and round. No word is spoken, and no laugh is heard. Stiff with cords and rich with braids, the girl moves heavily by herself, going round and round and never allowing her partner to touch her hand. The pipe goes droning on for hours in the same sad key and measure, and the prize of merit in this "circling," as the dance is called, is given by spectators to the lassie who in all that summer revelry has never spoken and never smiled.

Wanted More Converts.

Southey in his life of Wesley relates the following whimsical incident. He states that some of the opponents of these religionists in the excess of zeal against enthusiasm took up a whole wagon load of Methodists and carried them before a justice. When they were asked what these persons had done there was an awkward silence. At last one of the accusers said, "Why, they pretend to be better than other people, and, besides, they pray from morning till night."

The magistrate asked if they had done nothing else.

"Yes, sir," an old man said. "An't please your worship, they have converted my wife. Till she went among them she had such a tongue, and now she is as quiet as a lamb."

"Carry them back; carry them back," the magistrate said, "and let them convert all the scolds in the town!"

Icebergs and Echoes.

Icebergs are always a source of worry to the transatlantic steamship skippers. It isn't pleasant to run along through a fog or a murky night and smash into one of these floating mountains of ice. The liner captains have a way of finding ice that at first strikes the landsman as curious. When it is suspected there are bergs in the neighborhood the whistle is kept going. If there is an echo the navigator slows down and keeps a sharp eye out, for echoes don't grow in the open ocean.

Disraeli's Gorgeous Costume.

When Disraeli was a young man he once went on a vacation trip to Corfu in this extraordinary costume: "A blood red shirt with silver buttons as big as shillings, an immense scarf for girdle, full of pistols and daggers; red cap, red slippers, broad blue striped jacket and trousers. His servant, engaged for the occasion, wore a Mameluke dress of crimson and gold, with a white turban thirty yards long and a saber glittering like a rainbow."—London Spectator.

The Landlubber.

They were enlightening the landlubber as to maritime matters. He was becoming more and more crestfallen as their explanations progressed.

Maddening.

"They really fear she will become insane. You see, she found a diary he kept before he married her."

Posting Mother.

"Did that young man kiss you last night?"

"Mother, do you suppose he came all the way up here just to hear me sing?"

Woe Is His.

First.—My wife is my boss. I shall not deny.

Second.—She maketh me to lie down behind the bed when swell company comes, and she leadeth me behind her up Main street.

Third.—She restoreth my pocketbook after she has spent all of its contents for stylish skirts and theater tickets, and she leadeth me up the main aisle at church for her new hat's sake.

Fourth.—Yea, though I walk more than half the night through dark rooms with a crying baby I will get no rest, for she is behind me; her broomstick and her hatpin they do everything else but comfort me.

Fifth.—She prepareth a cold snack for me, then maketh a bee line for an aid society supper. She anointeth my head with the rolling pin occasionally. My arms runneth over with the bundles before she is half done with her shopping.

Sixth.—Surely her dressmaker's and milliner's bills shall follow me all the days of her life, and I will dwell in the house of my wife forever.—Urich (Mo.) Herald.

Signaling at Sea.

The custom of signaling at sea by means of various colored flags is very ancient, and the method seems to have been brought to a degree of development bordering very closely on perfection. Many people have been astonished at the length of messages conveyed in a few moments and with the use of but half a dozen flags in various combinations, and when the extent of the language and the complexity of many necessary messages are considered the eighteen flags in the signal flag locker seem very inadequate. However, it must be remembered that the signal code utilizes a sort of shorthand, and many long messages, known to be of frequent occurrence, have been contracted to a single showing of flags in a given combination. The number of flags hoisted when a signal is made never exceeds four. With the eighteen flags of various colors, using four for each signal, no fewer than 78,642 combinations can be made.

An English Ghost.

A Westmoreland ghost used to haunt the shores of Windermere, where the Lowthers from time immemorial have been lords of the lake—the "crier of Claife." One tempestuous night in prereformation times a cry was heard across the water by the ferryman at the Nab inn—"A boat!" The ferryman, against all his cronies' persuasions at the inn, set out. After many hours he reached the Nab again, his boat dragged down by some unseen weight and himself with hair on end, a raving lunatic. Soon he died, and every stormy night his wraith was heard in agonized shrieks across from Claife till at last the resident monk of Furness was sought in his retreat on Lady Holm and persuaded to "lay" the unhappy spirit, which he duly did. Harriet Martineau and others tell the tale.—London Chronicle.

The Weaker Sex.

The young woman had spent a busy day.

She had browbeaten fourteen sales people, bullyragged a floorwalker, argued victoriously with a milliner, laid down the law to a modiste, nipped in the bud a taxi chauffeur's attempt to overcharge her, made a street car conductor stop the car in the middle of a block for her, discharged her maid and engaged another and otherwise refused to allow herself to be imposed upon.

Yet she did not smile that evening when a young man begged:

"Let me be your protector through life!"—Life.

New Angle on Help.

"Why did you inquire so particularly into the wardrobe of that girl you just hired?" asked one of two women who were leaving an employment agency.

"To find out how carefully she will guard against burglars," said the other. "My experience has been that a girl who has nice things of her own will lock up more securely at night and keep a sharper eye out for sneak thieves in the daytime than one who has nothing of value to lose."—New York Press.

She Was Right.

"How effusively sweet that Mrs. Blondey is to you, Jonesey," said Witherell. "What's up? Any tender little romance there?"

"No, indeed. Why, that woman hates me," said Jonesey.

"She doesn't show it," said Witherell.

"No, but she knows that I know how old she is. We were both born on the same day," said Jonesey, "and she's afraid I'll tell somebody."—Harper's Weekly.

The First Lighthouse.

The first lighthouse was erected at Pharos, near Alexandria, in Egypt. It was finished in 285 B. C. Its height was 550 feet, and the light, which was kept burning on top at night, was visible forty-one miles away. This tower existed for some 1,600 years, when it was destroyed by an earthquake.

The Idea.

"Can a married man acquire happiness?"

"Sure! You don't think that bachelors are the only ones that die, do you?"—Toledo Blade.

Generally.

"Pa," said Freddy, "what is a social scale?"

"Generally speaking," replied pa, "it's a place where they weigh money."

There is an oblique way of reproof which takes off from the sharpness of it.—Steele.

VIOLENT SCENE IN CAMORRA TRIAL

Personal Dispute Suspends Sitting of Court.

Viterbo, July 22.—The most violent scenes of the Camorra trial was provoked by a personal dispute between Captain Fabroni and Lawyer Lioy. In the tumult all the lawyers fled from the room, Enrico Alfano and Gennaro Abbatemaggio, the informer, were thrown out bodily by the carabineers. Giavonnio Bartolezzi fell in a fit and President Bianchi, helpless to maintain order, declared the session adjourned.

Throughout the hubbub Fabroni stood pale, but impassive. As the court was being cleared, he said:

"The Camorra, in or out of court, can't intimidate me."

Fabroni, captain of the Neapolitan carabineers, was assigned by the ministry of justice to uproot the Camorra. He told on the stand of the results of his detective work and the operations of his associates, Marshal Capizutti and Marshal Farris. Alessandro Lioy, now attorney for the defense, formerly edited a newspaper. Fabroni has testified that revelations against the Camorra made by Editor Lioy were not in harmony with the claims set up by Lawyer Lioy in defense of his clients. Bitter personal feeling between the detective and the lawyer has resulted.

FARM VALUES ARE DOUBLED

Census Bureau Announces Latest General Farm Statistics of United States.

Washington, July 22.—Of marked interest because of many statements made during the Canadian reciprocity debate was the census bureau's announcement of the latest general farm statistics of the United States, showing that land in farms more than doubled in value during the last ten years, having increased $15,252,788,000, or 118 per cent. In 1900 they were valued at $12,051,033,000 and returns of the thirteenth census show they are now worth $28,384,821,000.

Farm lands, farm buildings and farm implements of the country are valued at $35,859,663,000, compared with $17,357,425,000 ten years ago.

The number of farms in 1910 was 6,340,120, as compared with 5,737,372 in 1900, an increase of 11 per cent. The land increased in 1900 from 835,092,000 acres to 873,703,000 in 1910, or 5 per cent, but a larger increase, 15 per cent, is noted in improved acreage, which in 1900 was 414,490,000 acres and in 1910 477,424,000 acres.

From 1900 to 1910 the average value per acre of all land in farms rose from $15.60 to $32.50, or 108 per cent.

Farm buildings, which in 1900 were valued at $3,556,614,000, were reported in 1910 as worth $6,294,025,000, an increase of 77 per cent.

Farm implements and machinery, reported in 1910 as worth $1,261,817,000 and ten years previously as worth $749,778,000, show an increase of 68 per cent.

PENROSE TELLS OF ACTIVITIES

Senator Brings Joy to Lorimer-Hines Followers.

URGED ELECTION OF LORIMER.

Hines' Secretary Says That $1,000 Was Demanded for Copy of List of Taft Campaign Contributions—Wanted to Know if McCormick Donated.

Washington, July 22.—Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania brought joy to the Lorimer-Hines followers when he told the senate Lorimer committee of the part he took in the election of Lorimer. They asserted he substantiated the testimony given by Edward Hines as to Senator Penrose's desire to have Mr. Hines exert his influence for Lorimer's election.

Besides his story the testimony brought out that the office of secretary of state of New York asked $1,000 for a certified copy of the contributors to the Republican national campaign fund in 1908. The list was desired to show whether Cyrus McCormick was among the contributors.

C. F. Wiehe, secretary of the Hines Lumber company of Chicago, laid before the committee what he said was a telegram he received in regard to the matter, dated July 12, 1911, and reading:

"Will deliver to you original Sheldon's statement filed in this office, Nov. 23, 1908, for $1,000."

This was signed "James J. Neville, secretary of state's office."

Senator Penrose told of meeting Hines in connection with the lumber schedule in the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill.

The senator said he was bothered with many Illinoisans because of the senatorial vacancy and that he thought he invited Hines' activity.

He admitted he made inquiries of Hines if Albert J. Hopkins could be re-elected, explaining that because of his acquaintance with Hopkins he hoped to see him returned. When Hines told him it seemed Hopkins could not be returned, the names of Frank O. Lowden and H. S. Boutell, then in congress, were discussed at different interviews; and finally Hines, "as a last resort," suggested Mr. Lorimer's name.

Urges Hines to Support Lorimer.

Senator Penrose said he did not then know Lorimer and had never seen him, but knew he was a competent man and a leader, so he urged Hines as a citizen of Illinois to do what he could to bring about an election and to support Lorimer when Hines said he believed Lorimer was the only man who could be elected.

He declared he believed Hines in his activities was not prompted by a desire to win a vote for the lumber schedules, but from a high patriotic motive of having the seat in the senate filled.

MUST NOT RUN AWAY

WHEN YOU RUN OVER A MAN WITH AN AUTO YOU MUST STOP.

FINES FROM $50 TO $100

New Motor Vehicle Tax Law Covers Every Contingency That is Likely to Arise.

The new Missouri motor vehicle law, which goes into effect August 1, is considerably more than a mere act requiring the annual registration of automobiles. It was prepared and passed with a view to doing away, as far as human laws can, with every abuse connected with the running of automobiles. Under its provision a person, if injured, not only may sue the owner of the machine for damages just as he may sue a railroad company but he can require an automobile driver to turn out for him on the highway or stop his machine to let fractious horses pass. Also the motorist may be compelled to stop at a street corner while pedestrians get on or off a street car.

But by far the most sweeping provision of the law makes running away from accident, now so common, a more precarious pastime. It requires every driver who is aware that he has caused an accident to stop and give his name, license number and street address to the injured person, or to the police. If no policeman is present he must go to the nearest police station or peace officer and make a full report of the accident. To insure the enforcement of this provision the law names as a penalty for the first offense a fine of not more than $500, imprisonment for two years, or both. For the second offense the law provides no option of a fine, but imprisonment of not less than two years and not more than five years.

Representative J. H. Hull of Platte city, who drew up the law, and, as chairman of the judiciary committee of the last legislature, superintended its every amendment, is himself a driver of motor cars. He incorporated in his law everything which has been complained of in regard to automobiles in Missouri, and in his speeches in support of the measure explained that one of his desires was to rid the automobile of the odium which it was fast gathering to itself.

Here are some of the provisions of the bill:

Every violation of the law for which no express punishment is provided is subject to a fine of $25 to $100 for the first offense and $50 to $500 for the second, with forfeiture of license rights.

Brakes must be in working order at all times. Horn, bell or other device adequate as a signal must be provided. Lights visible 200 feet in front must be carried from half an hour after sunset until half an hour before sunrise.

At every cross road and street crossing the machine must be slowed down and the horn or bell sounded.

Driver must stop on signal for a reasonable time to allow people with horses or other animals to pass.

Must slow down on approaching or passing a street car stopped to allow passengers to alight or embark, and "if it be necessary for the safety of the public" must come to a full stop.

Must sound his signal for pedestrians upon the traveled part of a road, and must slow down and sound his horn or bell on approaching a curve in a road or an intersecting highway where the view is obstructed.

Must turn out to the right and give half the road to the driver of any vehicle, horse as well as motor. The driver of horse-drawn vehicles shall, on the other hand, turn out to the right when a motor car comes up from behind and allow the motor "free passage" to the left.

At intersection of public highways the motorist must "keep to the right of the intersection of the centers of such highways when turning to the right and pass to the right of such intersections when turning to the left."

The speed permitted on country roads is left in part to the discretion of the driver, but this provision is added: "That a rate of speed in excess of twenty-five miles an hour for a distance of one-half mile shall be presumptive evidence of driving at a rate of speed which is not careful and prudent."

MAKES PLEA FOR WORLD PEACE

Veterans Cheer Taft's Prediction of Arbitration Pact.

EXCITING TRIP TO MANASSAS.

President Addresses Reunited Ranks of the Blue and Gray—Men Who Met as Enemies Fifty Years Ago Meet Again as Brothers.

Manassas, Va., July 22.—Mud bespattered, after a difficult trip from Washington by automobile over flooded roads and swollen creeks, President Taft faced on audience made up in part of veterans who wore the blue and the gray, within a few miles of the scene of the first great conflict of the civil war, and was applauded and cheered when he made a plea for international peace.

The president declared that a general arbitration treaty would be signed within the next ten days. He added that he hoped within the next few days to announce that three other great powers would enter into similar agreements with the United States.

He did not go so far as to indicate the nations he had in mind, but it is generally believed he referred to Germany, Italy and the Netherlands. Japan ultimately may come into the far-reaching peace pact, but the negotiations with that empire as yet are said to be merely tentative.

President Taft reached Manassas after a tempestuous trip. It was so strenuous that the presidential party abandoned their motor cars here and returned to the capital by train. Mr. Taft, laughingly, likened his troubles in getting to Bull Run to those that some folks fifty years ago had in getting away.

The president's trip from Washington to Manassas would have thrilled the heart of a moving picture man. He left a trail of stranded automobiles in his wake, made perilous voyages across streams out of their banks, plowed his way through rainstorms and mud and finally wheezed into this historic little village.

DUN'S REVIEW OF TRADE

Trade Continues Quiet, but Conditions Are Sound.

New York, July 22.—Dun's Review of Trade says: Trade continues quiet, but conditions are essentially sound. Better weather throughout the crop area has largely relieved the apprehension about the staple crops, and lower temperatures in the large cities have helped general business, especially retail lines.

Progress in iron and steel argues well for the future. While improvement is not pronounced, consumers are more disposed to cover requirements, and mill operators are broadening. Evidence of the increasing demand is furnished by the placing of orders for 100,000 tons of steel products for early shipments with a western subsidiary of the leading interest, the greater portion of these bookings comprising rails and track fastenings.

Reciprocity Bills Passes.

PREDICTS END OF MONOPOLY

Attorney General Wickersham Discusses Recent Decisions.

GREAT VICTORY FOR PEOPLE.

Work of Department of Justice Is Reviewed at Length—Criticism From Those Who Would Embarrass the President.

Hancock, Mich., July 22.—"Big combinations like the Standard Oil company and the tobacco trust are going to be 'split up into a number of separate and distinct parts,' without connection or monopoly powers." This was the prediction made in an address here by Attorney General Wickersham, answering "people who are saying the decisions of the supreme court do not really mean anything."

"Dno't believe any such talk," the attorney general said to the crowd assembled here for Hancock's "home-coming" celebration.

Criticisms seeking to minimize the value of the supreme court decisions come largely, he added, from those who would like to embarrass the administration with the sort of "general assault on all business which would compel every business man to turn to the other party for relief."

Incidentally Mr. Wickersham took occasion to trace the guiding hand of President Taft in the policy of the department of justice, concluding his speech with the remark that no matter who should be at the head of the department, so long as William Taft is president no other policy could obtain.

Great Victories for Government.

Mr. Wickersham then gave an account of the activities of "the people's law office," the department of justice.

"First of all," he said, "there are the great trusts cases, in which you, in common with the whole country have been so much interested. The government scored great victories there. Do not let anybody deceive you as to that. If the court had held that every contract that put any restraint of any kind upon commerce among the states, however slight, was a violation of the Sherman law, the department of justice would have had to illustrate the truth of what Edmund Burke said, "you can't draw an indictment against a nation." For there are not lawyers enough in the government nor, for that matter, in the country to draw indictments against everybody who makes any contract that in any respect implied in some measure to restrain interstate commerce.

"But when the supreme court said we must read this statute as reasonable men and give it an interpretation that will not strangle all trade, but which will prevent any undue restraint, prohibit all contracts and combinations that are intended to interfere with the natural course of trade, or which will have that necessary effect—then the court gave us a means of preventing those evils which led to the enactment of the law. And this is especially so in view of the fact that the court gave full force to the prohibition of monopolies, and by its decrees has ordered the breaking up of the two largest and most successful monopolies or trusts which ever have appeared in this country."

RECEIVER GETS LANDS

Court Orders Lewis to Deed Real Estate to Trust Company.

St. Louis, July 22.—Supplementary orders placed on the records of the United States circuit court require E. G. Lewis, whose properties were placed in receivership, and his wife, to deed to the receivers all their property which has connection with the Lewis enterprises, capitalized at more than $5,000,000.

According to attorneys for the creditors, the orders include the Lewis home in University City, the suburb in which most of Lewis' concerns are located. It has been definitely decided that the property of the American Women's league, which has chapter houses scattered from Ohio to Colorado, is not included in the court's order.

The record of the docket shows also that after the decision was read the judges scratched out reference to the University City Art building, known officially as the Art Institute of the American Women's league, and it will not be included in the property to be controlled by the receiver.

CANCER WAR PROGRESS SLOW

Research Committee Hears Report of Failure of Methods to Check Scourge.

London, July 22.—A meeting of the imperial cancer research committee disclosed the fact that small progress as yet has been made in the experimental laboratory in combatting the scourge. Sir William Selby Church, president of the Royal Society of Medicine, stated that methods for preventing the successful implantation of cancer had been tested on mice affected by spontaneous cancer and had given "no evidence of power either to hinder the growth and the dissemination of the disease or to prevent recurrence of spontaneous cancer after the removal of the primary tumor."

SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

DAILY DEMOCRAT-FORUM

(Successor to the Maryville Republican)

VOLUME 2. MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, SATURDAY, JULY 22, 1911. NO. 42.

THE SOUTH SIDE WON

A GOOD CLEAN GAME OF BALL AT RIFFE'S PARK FRIDAY.

GRAND STAND HELPED WIN

Much Interest Taken in Close Game in Which South Side Won From North 10 to 9.

Last half of the ninth inning, two down and the score tied! It sure looked like extra innings to determine the base ball supremacy of Maryville. And then the pitcher for the North side boys loosened up a little, an error or two was made by the fielding force, and in an exciting finish the winning run came across and the boys from the South side had won from the boys from the North side 10 to 9.

And any one who thinks Maryville hasn't some star base ball players among the boys who played Friday for the benefit of the playgrounds fund of the Mothers' Circle should have attended the game and found how badly they were mistaken. There have been games in Maryville where there were fewer errors and tighter pitching, but in none was there more head work used by the knights of the diamond and none of them furnished half the fun and real enjoyment that this contest did, in which the score seesawed from side to side, and which wasn't decided until the last ball was thrown.

The North side boys got away in the lead, and with the score 3 to 1 against them things looked blue for the South side stars, but Pitcher Harris drew in his belt a notch tighter and held the North siders down to no runs until the seventh inning; and in the meantime he and his teammates were piling up runs until they led the other boys 8 to 3.

Not all the playing was done by the boys on the diamond by any means. The most enthusiastic lot of rooters that has witnessed a ball game in many a day nearly filled the grand stand, and all the ways a fan knows to encourage his favorites and to distract the opposing players were used to turn the tide of battle. North side supporters vied with South side supporters in their efforts to gain advantage for their side. And Umpire Keck played a star game of his own. The little fellows certainly kept him busy, and it took fast work on his part to judge the plays. He earned every cent of his pay, and to judge by the way he seemed to enjoy it he was paid a-plenty.

And then came that heart breaking seventh inning for the South side boys. Pitcher Harris went up in an airship and the rest of the team followed him in balloons of various kinds. In vain did Captain Harris throw the ball from his place behind the bat to second, using his whip in a way that Captain Dietz might well envy. The North side sluggers were not to be denied. The opportunity they had waited for and had fought for was here. In the language of the sport writers, "the pill was pounded all over the lot." The "demon spitball flinger" couldn't get the right curve on his balls to stop the bombardment. When the cruel war was over and the maimed and wounded were removed from the scene of carnage the haughty South side banner was trailing in the dust and the crest of the North side champions was proudly erect. Six runs had been scored against them and a badly demoralized lot of boys sought the cool and shady bench next the bleachers.

But you can't keep a good man down. The South siders put through another in their half, and then both sides tightened up and there was no more scoring until after vainly trying to find holes in the North side infield. two men were out and it seemed the last hope was gone, "a nice little one" put the winning run across.

The Mothers' Circle is to be congratulated both on the financial success which they made and for the good clean game the boys played.

Everymember of the Mothers' Circle attended the game, and they want the boys of the two teams to have all the credit, for they came to the Circle at one of its meetings and offered to play for the Circle's play ground fund. The Circle had not thought of a ball game, and was delighted with the offer of the boys. The game has brought the Circle a neat sum, and they are sorry that more people could not have been there to enjoy the splendid ball they played. The Circle is especially proud of the boys because they played so earnestly and did not show the leats anger or resentment. Every one of them is a thorough-going gentleman.

The following was the line-up:

DEAD AT HIS FORMER HOME IN HOPKINS

John M. Gordon, aged 75 years, father of A. J. Gordon, of the firm of Sayler & Gordon of Hopkins, died at 7 o'clock Saturday morning at the home of his son, one mile north of Hopkins.

The funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Gordon home, conducted by Rev. W. B. Christy, district superintendent of the M. E. church. Burial in Hopkins.

Mr. Gordon had not been feeling well for about six weeks. Two weeks ago he came from his home, southeast of Kansas City, to visit his son and his family, hoping the change would be a benefit. But he gradually grew worse until death came Saturday morning.

Mr. Gordon was a resident of Hopkin until his removal to Kansas City about five years ago. He came to Nodaway county forty years ago this coming fall from his native state of Ohio. He first settled on a farm three and one-half miles southeast of Hopkins, but after a year moved to Hopkins and for years worked at the carpenter trade. He was an Ohio soldier all through the civil war.

He was twice married. His first marriage was to an Ohio young woman, who died in Hopkins, leaving him two sons, A. J. Gordon of Hopkins and William Gordon, who is some place in the west. His second marriage was to Miss Annie Long of Hopkins, who survives him with four children, Roland, Jessie, Maud and Della.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

THE TALBOTT BOYS WERE HUNG IN MARYVILLE.

FOR KILLING THEIR FATHER

Many Are Still Here Who Were Connected With the Talbott Trial and That Witnessed the Hanging.

Thirty years ago this date, or July 22, 1881, the first legal execution which ever took place in Nodaway county occurred in Maryville on that day, it being the hanging of Albert P. and Charles E. Talbott, in the presence of a crowd estimated at over 10,000 people, for the unnatural crime of murdering their own father, on Saturday night, September 18, 1880.

The murder of Dr. Perry H. Talbott, residing about seven miles south of Maryville, took place about 7 o'clock on the evening of September 18, 1880. He was shot and mortally wounded in his room by an assassin from without, through a window. He died the next day at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, remaining conscious up to within five minutes of the time of his death. When asked a little while before his death if he had any idea as to who had committed the crime, he said, "None."

Albert P. Talbott and Charles E. Talbert, the two sons of Dr. Talbott; Mrs. Talbott, wife of the murdered man, and Henry Wyatt, a worker on the Talbott farm, were arrested, and a preliminary hearing was had, the result of the hearing being that the Talbott boys and Wyatt were committed to the county jail to await the action of the next grand jury. The grand jury returned true bills against the two Talbott boys and Wyatt, but acquitted Mrs. Talbott. On January 13, 1881, the trial was had before Judge John C. Howell of the twenty-eighth judicial district, Judge Henry S. Kelley retiring from the bench on the motion of the attorneys for the defense. Judge W. W. Ramsay was at that time prosecuting attorney of Nodaway county and conducted the trial, being assisted by S. R. Beech, who is now postmaster of this city, and John Edwards. For the defense were Col. Lafe M. Dawson, Judge Johnston and M. G. Moran. The jury, after being out three hours, brought in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. The case was taken to the supreme court, their decision affirming the decision of the Nodaway circuit court. Wyatt was later released.

The boys were hung in the Beal pasture, in the east part of the city. The Nodaway Democrat, in its extra on that day, said:

"Sheriff Henry Toel gave the signal to Deputy Will Toel, when Will pulled the lever that supported the trap, and the drop fell at 2:20 o'clock. The bodies of the boys plunged through the opening, the fall breaking Ed's neck. Albert slowly choked to death and was not pronounced dead by the attending physicians, Doctors Koch and Campbell, until twenty-nine minutes after the drop fell. Ed was pronounced dead in twelve minutes."

Many people here remember the execution of the Talbott boys. Many of those connected with the trial are still living here.

LITTLE GIRL SUSTAINED INJURIES IN ACCIDENT

The little daughter of George Barber, a farmer living about two or three miles from Parnell, was badly injured Friday morning, when an automobile scared the horse she was riding horseback. The little girl was riding along the road and the horse frightened at the automobile, the girl falling off and breaking her leg and receiving other injuries. It is claimed that the automobile was going at a good rate of speed and was carelessly driven. It is said that the automobile was from Maryville and contained Maryville people.

A NEW TIME CARD?

CHANGES CONTEMPLATED BY BURLINGTON OFFICIALS.

TO ADD A NEW TRAIN

Will Greatly Benefit Maryville, and the Time of Several of the Trains to Be Changed.

The operating officials of the Burlington railroad are contemplating some changes in the present timecard of the passenger trains. Just how many changes will be made on the main line at Creston we are unable to say, but as several important changes on the Creston & St. Joseph branch are under consideration, it is quite likely that there will be also several made in the time of the arrival and departure of passenger trains on the main line, says the Creston Advertiser-Gazette in Friday's issue.

According to reports, train No. 4, from St. Joseph, which now arrives at Maryville at 11:55 a. m. will get here at 8:25 in the morning, if the new schedule is adopted, and will get to Creston at 10:25 in the morning. and this train will return to St. Joseph a little earlier in the afternoon than it does now. The officials are also giving some consideration to the question of putting on another train between Creston and St. Joseph, and if this is done the people living along the line of this branch will have very much improved service, as they can only go in either direction twice a day now, but with the added train it will give them a chance to come to Maryville or go out of this city oftener than they can under the present schedule of trains on that branch.

The reason for the change being made in the time of train No. 4 is to make connection with train No. 6, which goes through Creston about 10:30 in the morning. At present persons wishing to go east of Creston must either wait until evening, if they come from the south on the afternoon train, or take No. 4, which is a slow local train. The Burlington, it is understood, has lost quite a little Chicago passenger traffic because of the poor connections in Creston. Many who live along the line of the Burlington, on the Creston & St. Joseph branch go to St. Joseph and take passage from there to Chicago over another line of railroad rather than come to Creston and be forced to wait for several hours before they can get a through train. Connections with the night passenger trains are just as bad as those during the day. It is also understood that a great deal of Omaha and Denver traffic has been diverted because of the poor connections in Creston. Persons going to Creston on the afternoon train are forced to wait until evening to go to Omaha or Denver, and if they go on the night train they are compelled to wait until early in the morning to make connections, but with the change in time of the daylight train they will be in plenty of time to take No. 3 west.

The changes of the trains and with a new one added will greatly benefit the merchants of Maryville. If the change is made in the time of train No. 4, it will give people living to the south of us a chance to come to Maryville in the morning.

W. E. Goforth, Burlington agent at Maryville, was out of the city today, and nothing could be learned whether the Burlington intends to make these changes in train time. The Burlington has for some time had under consideration some changes for this branch.

TOOK NO ACTION

ABSENCE OF TWO MEMBERS LED COUNCIL TO DELAY.

HOLD MEETING TONIGHT

With All Members Present It Seems Likely Something Will Be Done in the Water Matter.

The city council met Friday evening in regular session, and after transacting some minor business adjourned until this, Saturday, evening, on account of the absence of two members of the board—Frank Ewing and O. K. Herndon. The council does not intend to take any action or submit a proposition to the people on the water problem unless the full board is present. Mayor Robey said last night:

"This is a great responsibility to shoulder, and every member should take his share. I don't believe we ought to do anything unless every member of the council is present."

The ordinance submitting an election to the people to vote on a $100,000 bond issue was ready and will be taken up at the meeting this evening. What action will be taken on it is hard to figure out at this time, as there seems to be some opposition to the bond issue in the council.

City Attorney Blagg, when asked if the City Water company could cut off their service in case they wanted to, said that they could. He said:

"Either party, the city or water company, can terminate its contract tomorrow. A recent decision to this effect is Judge Phillips' decision in the Carthage case."

Alderman John Gray said last night that in a talk he had with Manager G. B. Roseberry a few days ago, Mr. Roseberry said that he might be able to get Mr. E. L. Street here, and might be able to get a compromise rate, if the council felt disposed to do anything with granting a franchise to the company.

Several men are working up the river and some little water is coming down. A number of pools of water have been opened. These pools are probably fed by springs. Over an inch and a half have been gained by the water company in their reservoir.

A license of $25 was paid by the Airdome people on East Third street for running a moving picture show here. The council at first said that the license fee would be $2 a night, but after considering it, permitted the company to run under the moving picture show ordinance.

The city intends to go ahead on the opening of Ninth street to the Normal grounds. The Wabash company is opposed to the opening, as they say it is not needed now and will cost them too much money. Condemnation proceedings will be brought to open the streets. The railroad company is ready to open up Storm avenue.

The city council has had several meetings during the past week or so, and nothing has come of them except a great deal of talk. It is time for the members of the council to get down to business if they want to settle this water problem. The people are expecting the council to take some action on the question and are hoping that the city will at least do something toward temporary relief.

The Weather

Probably fair today and Sunday.

Women and Banking.

The cashier of a bank which has many women depositors, in speaking of these customers, said that the stock stories about overdrawn accounts and ignorance as to bank methods had become pointless. Whatever may have been the case before, women give banks no more trouble now than men. "The woman who insists on drawing money when her balance has been exhausted because there are still blank checks in her book has disappeared, and in her place we have a woman who wants interest on her money and who knows what 'call money' means," said the cashier. Referring to the 'old kind,' he added: "One day we did have a real case. A woman rushed in, said she had just figured up her account and found she was $500 short. Husband away—no other money—what could she do? She had brought jewels to leave as collateral security till he returned, and then we looked up the matter and found she had over $800 to her credit."—New York Tribune.

A Dance Without a Smile.

They have a singular kind of dance conducted on the greens of country villages in Russia. The dancers stand apart, a knot of young men here, a knot of maidens there, each sex by itself and silent as a crowd of mutes. A piper breaks into a tune. A youth pulls off his cap and challenges his girl with a wave and a bow. If the girl is willing she waves her handkerchief in token of assent. The youth advances, takes a corner of the handkerchief in his hand and leads his lassie round and round. No word is spoken, and no laugh is heard. Stiff with cords and rich with braids, the girl moves heavily by herself, going round and round and never allowing her partner to touch her hand. The pipe goes droning on for hours in the same sad key and measure, and the prize of merit in this "circling," as the dance is called, is given by spectators to the lassie who in all that summer revelry has never spoken and never smiled.

Wanted More Converts.

Southey in his life of Wesley relates the following whimsical incident. He states that some of the opponents of these religionists in the excess of zeal against enthusiasm took up a whole wagon load of Methodists and carried them before a justice. When they were asked what these persons had done there was an awkward silence. At last one of the accusers said, "Why, they pretend to be better than other people, and, besides, they pray from morning till night."

The magistrate asked if they had done nothing else.

"Yes, sir," an old man said. "An't please your worship, they have converted my wife. Till she went among them she had such a tongue, and now she is as quiet as a lamb."

"Carry them back; carry them back," the magistrate said, "and let them convert all the scolds in the town!"

Icebergs and Echoes.

Icebergs are always a source of worry to the transatlantic steamship skippers. It isn't pleasant to run along through a fog or a murky night and smash into one of these floating mountains of ice. The liner captains have a way of finding ice that at first strikes the landsman as curious. When it is suspected there are bergs in the neighborhood the whistle is kept going. If there is an echo the navigator slows down and keeps a sharp eye out, for echoes don't grow in the open ocean.

Disraeli's Gorgeous Costume.

When Disraeli was a young man he once went on a vacation trip to Corfu in this extraordinary costume: "A blood red shirt with silver buttons as big as shillings, an immense scarf for girdle, full of pistols and daggers; red cap, red slippers, broad blue striped jacket and trousers. His servant, engaged for the occasion, wore a Mameluke dress of crimson and gold, with a white turban thirty yards long and a saber glittering like a rainbow."—London Spectator.

The Difficulty.

The First Worker—Manner born be blowed! D'joo mean ter say if me an' you come into a bit o' splosh we couldn't keep our ends up with these 'ere dooks and people?

His Doubting Friend—Oh, we should be ori right, but our missuses 'd give the game away, yer know.—London Sketch.

The Landlubber.

They were enlightening the landlubber as to maritime matters. He was becoming more and more crestfallen as their explanations progressed.

"Why, I always thought," he sadly sighed, "that the port side of a ship was the one nearest port!"—Boston Herald.

Maddening.

"They really fear she will become insane. You see, she found a diary he kept before he married her."

"Oh, I see! And the awful revelations"—

"'Revelations?' No. It was all in cipher, and she couldn't read a word of it."—London Tit-Bits.

An Affront.

D'Auber—Your daughter paints in the Dutch school, does she not? Mrs. Newrich—Not much she don't! We pay $50 a quarter to give her private lessons at home. Dutch school indeed!—Philadelphia Record.

Posting Mother.

"Did that young man kiss you last night?"

"Mother, do you suppose he came all the way up here just to hear me sing?"

Woe Is His.

First.—My wife is my boss. I shall not deny.

Second.—She maketh me to lie down behind the bed when swell company comes, and she leadeth me behind her up Main street.

Third.—She restoreth my pocketbook after she has spent all of its contents for stylish skirts and theater tickets, and she leadeth me up the main aisle at church for her new hat's sake.

Fourth.—Yea, though I walk more than half the night through dark rooms with a crying baby I will get no rest, for she is behind me; her broomstick and her hatpin they do everything else but comfort me.

Fifth.—She prepareth a cold snack for me, then maketh a bee line for an aid society supper. She anointeth my head with the rolling pin occasionally. My arms runneth over with the bundles before she is half done with her shopping.

Sixth.—Surely her dressmaker's and milliner's bills shall follow me all the days of her life, and I will dwell in the house of my wife forever.—Urich (Mo.) Herald.

Signaling at Sea.

The custom of signaling at sea by means of various colored flags is very ancient, and the method seems to have been brought to a degree of development bordering very closely on perfection. Many people have been astonished at the length of messages conveyed in a few moments and with the use of but half a dozen flags in various combinations, and when the extent of the language and the complexity of many necessary messages are considered the eighteen flags in the signal flag locker seem very inadequate. However, it must be remembered that the signal code utilizes a sort of shorthand, and many long messages, known to be of frequent occurrence, have been contracted to a single showing of flags in a given combination. The number of flags hoisted when a signal is made never exceeds four. With the eighteen flags of various colors, using four for each signal, no fewer than 78,642 combinations can be made.

An English Ghost.

A Westmoreland ghost used to haunt the shores of Windermere, where the Lowthers from time immemorial have been lords of the lake—the "crier of Claife." One tempestuous night in prereformation times a cry was heard across the water by the ferryman at the Nab inn—"A boat!" The ferryman, against all his cronies' persuasions at the inn, set out. After many hours he reached the Nab again, his boat dragged down by some unseen weight and himself with hair on end, a raving lunatic. Soon he died, and every stormy night his wraith was heard in agonized shrieks across from Claife till at last the resident monk of Furness was sought in his retreat on Lady Holm and persuaded to "lay" the unhappy spirit, which he duly did. Harriet Martineau and others tell the tale.—London Chronicle.

The Weaker Sex.

The young woman had spent a busy day.

She had browbeaten fourteen sales people, bullyragged a floorwalker, argued victoriously with a milliner, laid down the law to a modiste, nipped in the bud a taxi chauffeur's attempt to overcharge her, made a street car conductor stop the car in the middle of a block for her, discharged her maid and engaged another and otherwise refused to allow herself to be imposed upon.

Yet she did not smile that evening when a young man begged:

"Let me be your protector through life!"—Life.

New Angle on Help.

"Why did you inquire so particularly into the wardrobe of that girl you just hired?" asked one of two women who were leaving an employment agency.

"To find out how carefully she will guard against burglars," said the other. "My experience has been that a girl who has nice things of her own will lock up more securely at night and keep a sharper eye out for sneak thieves in the daytime than one who has nothing of value to lose."—New York Press.

She Was Right.

"How effusively sweet that Mrs. Blondey is to you, Jonesey," said Witherell. "What's up? Any tender little romance there?"

"No, indeed. Why, that woman hates me," said Jonesey.

"She doesn't show it," said Witherell.

"No, but she knows that I know how old she is. We were both born on the same day," said Jonesey, "and she's afraid I'll tell somebody."—Harper's Weekly.

The First Lighthouse.

The first lighthouse was erected at Pharos, near Alexandria, in Egypt. It was finished in 285 B. C. Its height was 550 feet, and the light, which was kept burning on top at night, was visible forty-one miles away. This tower existed for some 1,600 years, when it was destroyed by an earthquake.

The Idea.

"Can a married man acquire happiness?"

"Sure! You don't think that bachelors are the only ones that die, do you?"—Toledo Blade.

Generally.

"Pa," said Freddy, "what is a social scale?"

"Generally speaking," replied pa, "it's a place where they weigh money."

There is an oblique way of reproof which takes off from the sharpness of it.—Steele.

VIOLENT SCENE IN CAMORRA TRIAL

Personal Dispute Suspends Sitting of Court.

Viterbo, July 22.—The most violent scenes of the Camorra trial was provoked by a personal dispute between Captain Fabroni and Lawyer Lioy. In the tumult all the lawyers fled from the room, Enrico Alfano and Gennaro Abbatemaggio, the informer, were thrown out bodily by the carabineers. Giavonnio Bartolezzi fell in a fit and President Bianchi, helpless to maintain order, declared the session adjourned.

Throughout the hubbub Fabroni stood pale, but impassive. As the court was being cleared, he said:

"The Camorra, in or out of court, can't intimidate me."

Fabroni, captain of the Neapolitan carabineers, was assigned by the ministry of justice to uproot the Camorra. He told on the stand of the results of his detective work and the operations of his associates, Marshal Capizutti and Marshal Farris. Alessandro Lioy, now attorney for the defense, formerly edited a newspaper. Fabroni has testified that revelations against the Camorra made by Editor Lioy were not in harmony with the claims set up by Lawyer Lioy in defense of his clients. Bitter personal feeling between the detective and the lawyer has resulted.

FARM VALUES ARE DOUBLED

Census Bureau Announces Latest General Farm Statistics of United States.

Washington, July 22.—Of marked interest because of many statements made during the Canadian reciprocity debate was the census bureau's announcement of the latest general farm statistics of the United States, showing that land in farms more than doubled in value during the last ten years, having increased $15,252,788,000, or 118 per cent. In 1900 they were valued at $12,051,033,000 and returns of the thirteenth census show they are now worth $28,384,821,000.

Farm lands, farm buildings and farm implements of the country are valued at $35,859,663,000, compared with $17,357,425,000 ten years ago.

The number of farms in 1910 was 6,340,120, as compared with 5,737,372 in 1900, an increase of 11 per cent. The land increased in 1900 from 835,692,000 acres to 873,703,000 in 1910, or 5 per cent, but a larger increase, 15 per cent, is noted in improved acreage, which in 1900 was 414,490,000 acres and in 1910 477,424,000 acres.

From 1900 to 1910 the average value per acre of all land in farms rose from $15.60 to $32.50, or 108 per cent.

Farm buildings, which in 1900 were valued at $3,556,614,000, were reported in 1910 as worth $6,294,025,000, an increase of 77 per cent.

Farm implements and machinery, reported in 1910 as worth $1,261,817,000 and ten years previously as worth $749,778,000, show an increase of 68 per cent.

PENROSE TELLS OF ACTIVITIES

Senator Brings Joy to Lorimer-Hines Followers.

URGED ELECTION OF LORIMER.

Hines' Secretary Says That $1,000 Was Demanded for Copy of List of Taft Campaign Contributions—Wanted to Know If McCormick Donated.

Washington, July 22.—Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania brought joy to the Lorimer-Hines followers when he told the senate Lorimer committee of the part he took in the election of Lorimer. They asserted he substantiated the testimony given by Edward Hines as to Senator Penrose's desire to have Mr. Hines exert his influence for Lorimer's election.

Besides his story the testimony brought out that the office of secretary of state of New York asked $1,000 for a certified copy of the contributors to the Republican national campaign fund in 1908. The list was desired to show whether Cyrus McCormick was among the contributors.

C. F. Wiehe, secretary of the Hines Lumber company of Chicago, laid before the committee what he said was a telegram he received in regard to the matter, dated July 12, 1911, and reading:

"Will deliver to you original Sheldon's statement filed in this office, Nov. 23, 1908, for $1,000."

This was signed "James J. Neville, secretary of state's office."

Senator Penrose told of meeting Hines in connection with the lumber schedule in the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill.

The senator said he was bothered with many Illinoisans because of the senatorial vacancy and that he thought he invited Hines' activity.

He admitted he made inquiries of Hines if Albert J. Hopkins could be re-elected, explaining that because of his acquaintance with Hopkins he hoped to see him returned. When Hines told him it seemed Hopkins could not be returned, the names of Frank O. Lowden and H. S. Boutell, then in congress, were discussed at different interviews; and finally Hines, "as a last resort," suggested Mr. Lorimer's name.

Urges Hines to Support Lorimer.

Senator Penrose said he did not then know Lorimer and had never seen him, but knew he was a competent man and a leader, so he urged Hines as a citizen of Illinois to do what he could to bring about an election and to support Lorimer when Hines said he believed Lorimer was the only man who could be elected.

He declared he believed Hines in his activities was not prompted by a desire to win a vote for the lumber schedules, but from a high patriotic motive of having the seat in the senate filled.

MUST NOT RUN AWAY

WHEN YOU RUN OVER A MAN WITH AN AUTO YOU MUST STOP.

FINES FROM $50 TO $100

New Motor Vehicle Tax Law Covers Every Contingency That is Likely to Arise.

The new Missouri motor vehicle law, which goes into effect August 1, is considerably more than a mere act requiring the annual registration of automobiles. It was prepared and passed with a view to doing away, as far as human laws can, with every abuse connected with the running of automobiles. Under its provision a person, if injured, not only may sue the owner of the machine for damages just as he may sue a railroad company but he can require an automobile driver to turn out for him on the highway or stop his machine to let fractious horses pass. Also the motorist may be compelled to stop at a street corner while pedestrians get on or off a street car.

But by far the most sweeping provision of the law makes running away from accident, now so common, a more precarious pastime. It requires every driver who is aware that he has caused an accident to stop and give his name, license number and street address to the injured person, or to the police. If no policeman is present he must go to the nearest police station or peace officer and make a full report of the accident. To insure the enforcement of this provision the law names as a penalty for the first offense a fine of not more than $500, imprisonment for two years, or both. For the second offense the law provides no option of a fine, but imprisonment of not less than two years and not more than five years.

Representative J. H. Hull of Platte city, who drew up the law, and, as chairman of the judiciary committee of the last legislature, superintended its every amendment, is himself a driver of motor cars. He incorporated in his law everything which has been complained of in regard to automobiles in Missouri, and in his speeches in support of the measure explained that one of his desires was to rid the automobile of the odium which it was fast gathering to itself.

Here are some of the provisions of the bill:

Every violation of the law for which no express punishment is provided is subject to a fine of $25 to $100 for the first offense and $50 to $500 for the second, with forfeiture of license rights.

Brakes must be in working order at all times. Horn, bell or other device adequate as a signal must be provided. Lights visible 200 feet in front must be carried from half an hour after sunset until half an hour before sunrise.

At every cross road and street crossing the machine must be slowed down and the horn or bell sounded.

Driver must stop on signal for a reasonable time to allow people with horses or other animals to pass.

Must slow down on approaching or passing a street car stopped to allow passengers to alight or embark, and "if it be necessary for the safety of the public" must come to a full stop.

Must sound his signal for pedestrians upon the traveled part of a road, and must slow down and sound his horn or bell on approaching a curve in a road or an intersecting highway where the view is obstructed.

Must turn out to the right and give half the road to the driver of any vehicle, horse as well as motor. The driver of horse-drawn vehicles shall, on the other hand, turn out to the right when a motor car comes up from behind and allow the motor "free passage" to the left.

At intersection of public highways the motorist must "keep to the right of the intersection of the centers of such highways when turning to the right and pass to the right of such intersections when turning to the left."

The speed permitted on country roads is left in part to the discretion of the driver, but this provision is added: "That a rate of speed in excess of twenty-five miles an hour for a distance of one-half mile shall be presumptive evidence of driving at a rate of speed which is not careful and prudent."

Veterans Cheer Taft's Prediction of Arbitration Pact.

EXCITING TRIP TO MANASSAS.

President Addresses Reunited Ranks of the Blue and Gray—Men Who Met as Enemies Fifty Years Ago Meet Again as Brothers.

Manassas, Va., July 22.—Mud bespattered, after a difficult trip from Washington by automobile over flooded roads and swollen creeks, President Taft faced on audience made up in part of veterans who wore the blue and the gray, within a few miles of the scene of the first great conflict of the civil war, and was applauded and cheered when he made a plea for international peace.

The president declared that a general arbitration treaty would be signed within the next ten days. He added that he hoped within the next few days to announce that three other great powers would enter into similar agreements with the United States.

He did not go so far as to indicate the nations he had in mind, but it is generally believed he referred to Germany, Italy and the Netherlands. Japan ultimately may come into the far-reaching peace pact, but the negotiations with that empire as yet are said to be merely tentative.

President Taft reached Manassas after a tempestuous trip. It was so strenuous that the presidential party abandoned their motor cars here and returned to the capital by train. Mr. Taft, laughingly, likened his troubles in getting to Bull Run to those that some folks fifty years ago had in getting away.

The president's trip from Washington to Manassas would have thrilled the heart of a moving picture man. He left a trail of stranded automobiles in his wake, made perilous voyages across streams out of their banks, plowed his way through rainstorms and mud and finally wheezed into this historic little village.

Trade Continues Quiet, but Conditions Are Sound.

New York, July 22.—Dun's Review of Trade says: Trade continues quiet, but conditions are essentially sound. Better weather throughout the crop area has largely relieved the apprehension about the staple crops, and lower temperatures in the large cities have helped general business, especially retail lines.

Progress in iron and steel argues well for the future. While improvement is not pronounced, consumers are more disposed to cover requirements, and mill operators are broadening. Evidence of the increasing demand is furnished by the placing of orders for 100,000 tons of steel products for early shipments with a western subsidiary of the leading interest, the greater portion of these bookings comprising rails and track fastenings.

Reciprocity Bills Passes.

Washington, July 22.—The most bitter fight for legislation waged by an administration in many years came to a close today, when the Canadian reciprocity bill, an issue before two sessions of congress, was passed by the senate by a decisive vote.

PREDICTS END OF MONOPOLY

Attorney General Wickersham Discusses Recent Decisions.

GREAT VICTORY FOR PEOPLE.

Work of Department of Justice Is Reviewed at Length—Criticism From Those Who Would Embarrass the President.

Hancock, Mich., July 22.—"Big combinations like the Standard Oil company and the tobacco trust are going to be 'split up into a number of separate and distinct parts,' without connection or monopoly powers." This was the prediction made in an address here by Attorney General Wickersham, answering "people who are saying the decisions of the supreme court do not really mean anything."

"Dno't believe any such talk," the attorney general said to the crowd assembled here for Hancock's "home-coming" celebration.

Criticisms seeking to minimize the value of the supreme court decisions come largely, he added, from those who would like to embarrass the administration with the sort of "general assault on all business which would compel every business man to turn to the other party for relief."

Incidentally Mr. Wickersham took occasion to trace the guiding hand of President Taft in the policy of the department of justice, concluding his speech with the remark that no matter who should be at the head of the department, so long as William Taft is president no other policy could obtain.

Great Victories for Government.

Mr. Wickersham then gave an account of the activities of "the people's law office," the department of justice.

"First of all," he said, "there are the great trusts cases, in which you, in common with the whole country have been so much interested. The government scored great victories there. Do not let anybody deceive you as to that. If the court had held that every contract that put any restraint of any kind upon commerce among the states, however slight, was a violation of the Sherman law, the department of justice would have had to illustrate the truth of what Edmund Burke said, "you can't draw an indictment against a nation." For there are not lawyers enough in the government nor, for that matter, in the country to draw indictments against everybody who makes any contract that in any respect implied in some measure to restrain interstate commerce.

"But when the supreme court said we must read this statute as reasonable men and give it an interpretation that will not strangle all trade, but which will prevent any undue restraint, prohibit all contracts and combinations that are intended to interfere with the natural course of trade, or which will have that necessary effect—then the court gave us a means of preventing those evils which led to the enactment of the law. And this is especially so in view of the fact that the court gave full force to the prohibition of monopolies, and by its decrees has ordered the breaking up of the two largest and most successful monopolies or trusts which ever have appeared in this country."

RECEIVER GETS LANDS

Court Orders Lewis to Deed Real Estate to Trust Company.

St. Louis, July 22.—Supplementary orders placed on the records of the United States circuit court require E. G. Lewis, whose properties were placed in receivership, and his wife, to deed to the receivers all their property which has connection with the Lewis enterprises, capitalized at more than $5,000,000.

According to attorneys for the creditors, the orders include the Lewis home in University City, the suburb in which most of Lewis' concerns are located. It has been definitely decided that the property of the American Women's league, which has chapter houses scattered from Ohio to Colorado, is not included in the court's order.

The record of the docket shows also that after the decision was read the judges scratched out reference to the University City Art building, known officially as the Art Institute of the American Women's league, and it will not be included in the property to be controlled by the receiver.

CANCER WAR PROGRESS SLOW

Research Committee Hears Report of Failure of Methods to Check Scourge.

London, July 22.—A meeting of the imperial cancer research committee disclosed the fact that small progress as yet has been made in the experimental laboratory in combatting the scourge. Sir William Selby Church, president of the Royal Society of Medicine, stated that methods for preventing the successful implantation of cancer had been tested on mice affected by spontaneous cancer and had given "no evidence of power either to hinder the growth and the dissemination of the disease or to prevent recurrence of spontaneous cancer after the removal of the primary tumor."

SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect. Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.
